This has resulted in a dramatic rise in house prices, especially in most economically productive areas. This in turn limits GDP growth and delays family formation, depressing the birth rate and making immigration more necessary, while contributing to urban sprawl and other problems. Our speakers have insights about these and related urban planning issues challenges.	Étienne-Alexandre Beauregard Kirk LaPointe David Leis Geoff Russ Sonia Orlu Reihan Salam Chair: Sam Sullivan
